Chartered Environmentalists

Show your experience in sustainable development

In the modern world of construction, there are many complex challenges around sustainability and environmental concerns across the globe. As a result, demand is growing for individuals who have the knowledge and experience to help solve these issues.

CIOB partners with the Society for the Environment to offer members access to accreditations that display an individual's proven experience in sustainability and environmentally friendly practices.

Become a Chartered Environmentalist (CEnv) to gain recognition for your commitment and experience in sustainable development.
